This article is about the old city of Heorot. Not to be confused with the region of Heorot.

Once the largest city in the world, it was founded shortly after the monsters started spreading and lasted nearly a century before it fell.

The city was founded by Karvargr, who also served as its protector until his death.

The city fell when a blue greatwyrm attacked. Karvargr was able to defeat the dragon, but the dragon had already destroyed the walls of the city, insuring that it would soon fall to a monster invasion.

Heorot is also the name of the region that the city used to occupy.
