Class: Fighter

Once a great monster hunter renowned for his miraculous ability to take down any creature no matter how outmatched or outnumbered, he disappeared just as monsters began taking over the world.

Some say that he was finally killed by the very monsters he hunted and his head remains in a trophy case. Others say that he saw a fight he could not win and hid away. Yet others say that he hid away in shame for causing their appearance to begin with. No one knows the truth and likely no one ever will.
