Class: Wizard

Name

Vargrson

Role

Wizarding teacher, librarian, and magical researcher.

Quirk

Walks with a limp in his left leg. On long walks he will use his magic staff as a walking stick.

Desire

Finish his research and teach it to others so that it will not be lost and can be used if needed once he is gone.

Details

Named after Karvargr, Vargrson is the only powerful wizard in Heorot and is foundational to the federation. In an effort to bring economic prosperity to his hometown, he spent a decade of his life setting up the permanent magic circles within each city of the federation. The trek to each city was dangerous. Once at a given city, he was able to set up a temporary magic circle which allowed him to return home to Karvargr's Barrow without worry. Only able to cast one magic circle spell at a time, it took him 10 years to permanently create all 10.

His efforts were more succesful than he had hoped, and Karvargr's Barrow quickly became the economic center of the region. Realizing that he hated the hustle and bustle of a busy town, Vargrson moved to the quite farming town of Freyr and created a wizard's tower there in order to perform his research in quiet.

He rarely leaves his home, spending most of his time research, writing down details of his magic, or teaching students.

From:
https://danfartsalot.com/ofmonstersandmen/ - OfMonstersAndMen

Permanent link:
https://danfartsalot.com/ofmonstersandmen/doku.php?id=vargrson&rev=1776654975

Last update: 2026/04/20 03:16